Respectful Gaming Chat

If you want to talk to someone in an online game, remember to check with a grown-up first and talk about the type of information that you should and should not share. If you do have a conversation with someone, it is important to be respectful. Use the speech bubbles to show respectful things that you might say to someone while you are playing an online game.

Draw a picture of yourself playing an online game.